

Accessibility Expands into South Florida Through Partnership with Phoenix Pro

Family-owned Phoenix Pro will operate Amramp South Florida, combining established home modification expertise with Amramp's specialized accessibility solutions

WEST PALM BEACH, FL — September 24, 2026 — Amramp Accessibility, a national provider of wheelchair ramps and other accessibility solutions, has expanded its presence in Florida with the opening of Amramp South Florida, operated by Phoenix Pro, an Amramp partner.

This new location is owned by Alex Modric and he works alongside side his family including his brother, Tiy Dyer and father George. Through Phoenix Pro, the family has extensive experience helping Floridians facing mobility challenges remain safer and more independent in their homes. Their background in home modifications and aging-in-place solutions, along with Certified Aging-in-Place Specialist (CAPS) credentials, provides a strong foundation for serving Amramp customers throughout South Florida.

"Phoenix Pro and Amramp share a commitment to helping people live safely and independently in their own homes," said Alex Modric. "This partnership allows us to combine our home modification experience and established relationships throughout Florida with Amramp's specialized accessibility solutions. Together, we can provide a responsive, hands-on approach that benefits the people we serve as well as the organizations responsible for coordinating and funding their care."

Phoenix Pro specializes in home modifications, enhanced chore services, and pest control solutions. As an experienced provider of Home and Community-Based Services, the company serves individuals and organizations associated with Long-Term Care Medicaid, Area Agencies on Aging, Programs of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly, the Florida Department of Children and Families, workers' compensation third-party administrators, U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs programs, and other community-based resources.

As Amramp South Florida, the family ownership team will provide modular wheelchair ramps, stair lifts, vertical platform lifts, grab bars, and other accessibility solutions for residential, commercial, and temporary needs. Amramp's modular steel wheelchair ramps are available for purchase or rental and can be configured to accommodate a wide variety of properties and mobility needs.

Amramp's manufacturer-direct model provides an additional advantage for government-funded programs, private payers, and individual customers. Direct access to modular ramp components and specialized product expertise can support faster installation timelines while helping control material and labor costs. Combined with Phoenix Pro's commitment to using its own installation team rather than subcontracted labor, this hands-on approach provides greater continuity and accountability from the initial evaluation through installation, supporting a better experience for both payers and end users.

"George, Alex, and Ty understand both the practical and personal sides of creating a safer, more accessible home," said Justin Gordon, CEO of Amramp Accessibility. "Their experience, established community relationships, and commitment to compassionate service make Phoenix Pro a natural partner for Amramp. Together, we will be able to help more people throughout South Florida access the places they love."

The partnership brings together two family-owned businesses with closely aligned values. Amramp was founded by Gordon's father, Julian, in 1998 and has grown into a network of locally owned and operated locations across the United States and Canada. The family ownership team will carry that people-focused approach forward in South Florida while continuing the trusted relationships Phoenix Pro has built throughout the state.
